We are collaborating with The National Trust for the Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities to bring a powerful framework for inclusive services that truly meet the needs of people with disability.

VALUED LIVES 3.0

An Invitational Course on Social Role Valorization will be held 19-22 November in New Delhi. This body of knowledge was offered in India for the first time in 2016, and the impact was immense. “SRV” theory is influencing the development of inclusive lives for people with disability in powerful ways. You have been nominated as a person of influence and potential, and you are being invited to apply. We expect applications to exceed the seats available, and decisions will be made based on numerous factors. Those accepted into the course will be afforded travel costs as well as accommodation, meals, materials, and and full tuition. A very nominal fee of ₹800 will be collected upon registration for those who are selected. Final participants will join the 84 leaders across India who have benefited from this course, and will be supported afterwards to implement the ideas towards a more inclusive, just society where all are valued and all belong.

This is a residential certification course offered only to selected leaders and emerging professionals, family members, and advocates. It is a theory course, and will be followed by opportunities to implement, build on, and use the ideas in practice. It is our intention to continue to build on the community of practice currently using and sharing “SRV” across India. It should be noted that the materials is applicable to all devalued and marginalized persons in any society, and our presenters and leaders have particular expertise working alongside people with developmental and psycho-social disability towards fuller, richer, better lives.

As a person with great influence and promise in the field, you have been nominated to apply for a seat in the workshop. This is an extensive time and resource commitment investing in leadership and future leaders. It is also a rigorous course which requires the full engagement and focus of each participant. Substitutions are not permitted without prior permission from the course organizers, and should be requested in writing.

Full details will be sent to each registrant once they are fully accepted to the event. Please contact the workshop registrar via email with any questions.
